Nick Morgan shows how anyone can be an effective speaker by presenting an image of authenticity and respect for their audience, whether in a group presentation or a one-on-one conversation. He presents a four-step process, perfected in his teaching at Harvard, that enables the reader to use their own personal speaking style while becoming a more persuasive and charismatic communicator and leader. The basis of this process is the fact that when words and body language are in conflict, body language wins every time. This isn't easy to overcome, because normally body language is immediate, while the words lag slightly behind, and even a momentary conflict is perceptible to the audience. The key to success is to train your body language to unconsciously align with your message. The four steps: Form the attitude and intent to be open, and then let your body naturally express that intent. This feeling of openness will naturally affect the content of what you are saying, and it's that natural evolution that is at the heart of the process. Become connected to your audience. This creates a mutual energy, and you will naturally begin to think in terms of what the audience wants and needs in shaping your content. Ask yourself, what's my underlying emotion? Why does this matter to me? Becoming passionate about what you have to say naturally makes your audience care about it too. Really listen to the audience. Understanding their needs and reactions will enable you to direct your communication in mutually beneficial ways. While dating, voice your most effective tool. If you wish you knew how to "sweep a woman off her feet," then keep reading. The truth is: A lot of men simply don't know what to say--to an attractive woman. You might feel like you have nothing to offer her. Perhaps she'll think you're weird or boring. Perhaps you've experienced uncomfortable emotions in social situations--like embarrassment, frustration, or sadness--because it seems like everybody has a girlfriend but you. You're not alone here. Through the ages, many men (like Casanova, Kierkegaard, and Schopenhauer) have wrestled with the same problems. They attempted to codify the elements of female attraction, and unpack the riddle of womanhood. Much of ancient literature tells the tale of a woeful love-struck man--lamenting the indifference of the woman he desires. So, what's going on here? Why do some men seem to effortlessly exude charisma, confidence, and charm, while others never get any attention at all? Why do some men show up with a new girlfriend every week, while others, have never been kissed? What's the solution? Fortunately for us, recent advances in evolutionary psychology, biology, and social science have managed to shine some light on these questions, and unlock the formula for charisma. The trick lies in understanding that, the female brain was tuned (thousands of years ago) to look for a certain set of male characteristics. At a subconscious level, a woman's brain is always observing a man--taking note of his body language, the gaze of his eyes, his voice, his touch, his way with words, and the way he carries himself across a crowded room. The message a man conveys with these little behaviors, is known as his "nonverbal communication." Mastering this type of communication, approaching women, engaging in small talk, and parlaying an encounter into a romance, is a delicate undertaking--sometimes called the "Art of Seduction." There is much to learn in this domain. But, fortunately, we've crammed this book full of practical information, and proven strategies--designed to teach you exactly how to instantly connect with a woman--on a deeper level. This book will teach you how to develop magnetic charisma and confidence! You will learn: How to make a first impression that counts--and makes her instantly curious to learn more about you. How to become more articulate, well-spoken, and make witty small talk, effortlessly. Learn the cure for "never knowing what to say" to a woman you just met. The one conversation technique that is guaranteed to get her instantly interested in you. The biological basis of confidence, how it kept your ancestors alive, and how to develop it within yourself. How to utilize eye contact, and the power of your voice, to seize female attention, and woo the woman of your dreams. How to avoid the dreaded "Friend Zone," and use your touch and masculine energy to spark the fires of sexual tension, and keep her interested in you. Even if you're not the best-looking guy in the world, this is largely irrelevant. Because it takes more than a pretty face to attract a woman. As Casanova himself wrote in 1821: "I was not handsome, but I had something better than beauty--a striking expression--which almost compelled an affectionate interest in my favor, and I felt myself ready for anything... A most unwavering feeling of self-esteem...enhanced wonderfully my confidence in myself." Wouldn't it be great to have this level of confidence? Thankfully, with a little training, anyone can be a Casanova. Ready to learn more? Are you making these mistakes when socializing? Marilyn Monroe proved that one does not have to have an air about them to be charismatic. She was walking with a photographer and magazine editor towards the Grand Central Terminus deep in conversation. It was a busy day and the terminus was packed with people, and nobody had the time to look at her. As the photographer clicked the camera, she boarded the train and sat in the corner of a car. Marilyn wanted to show the magazine editor that she could either choose to be plain Norma Jean Baker or glamorous Marilyn Monroe just by deciding. She was Norma Jean on the subway, but when she reached the sidewalks of New York, she chose to be Marilyn. She turned to the photographer and asked him if he would like to see Marilyn. All she did was turn around, fluff her hair and strike a pose, and she turned into the glamorous Marilyn Monroe. A spark rippled out of her and she became magnetic. The people walking past her stopped in their tracks and recognized that a star was in their midst. In an instant, fans engulfed Marilyn and it took some time for the photographer to protect her from the crowd. Marilyn knew that charisma is something you can turn on and off. And even if you're making all the mistakes inside, the short simple guide will show you how to fix them. Become compelling and unforgettable anywhere, anytime with the help of "Communication Skills" by master communicator Devin White! In an age where communication happens mostly through a screen, a lot can get lost in translation. Often times, people can be super charming when chatting online, only to become crippled with social anxiety when it's time to meet up. It's like when you successfully apply for a job online and end up choking when it's time to do that in-person interview. Or when you exchange messages with someone you like until late at night, but end up speechless on the actual date. You're not alone. We take communication for granted, but what we fail to realize is that it's the key to fostering better relationships... whether that's with people we want to know on a personal level, or people we work with. And if we can't communicate properly, we are often misunderstood or, worse, forgotten. This is what "Communication Skills" aims to address! ☐☐ You don't know HOW TO TALK TO WOMEN, but would you like to learn? If so then keep reading. ☐☐ You can know yourself by looking at how you live your life. This includes the place you chose to live, the way you eat, and aspects around your lifestyle. This includes how you dress, the way you relate and how your family blends into your life. The people involved and influencing your life make part of who you are. For instance, if you are a father and hence have a baby-mama, how you live your life dealing with that determines who you are and other women will have to react towards this. The decisions you make and those you have made in the past also reflect what you are. They reflect how you think and your perception of life. Decisions in this case range from how you buy things, the consequential choices in terms of relationships and how you have been handling women in the past. When sharing things about your past, it will show some of the decisions in the past and the girl will be asking herself if she is willing to be handled in the way you have handled others in the past. If she deems the decisions are bad, you will be under the duty to give assurances. Understand that decisions that you make reflect the beliefs and values that influence and drive you. Hence you may appear either opinionated, rigid or liberal. You, therefore, have to assess yourself and look at the decisions you have been making in life and determine the influences that were behind the decisions. Understand that those influences make up what you are and it is likely that one needs to deal with that. The essence of knowing this is in order to know how to present your real self in a way that a woman can deal with. If you are a person who is rooted in dogma and traditional thoughts, being aware of it helps. You will be careful about how you reveal this part of who you are. You will be conscious in order to eventually demonstrate to a girl that regardless of who you are, you are still lovable. The truth is: A lot of men simply don't know what to say--to an attractive woman. You might feel like you have nothing to offer her. Perhaps she'll think you're weird or boring. Perhaps you've experienced uncomfortable emotions in social situations--like embarrassment, frustration, or sadness--because it seems like everybody has a girlfriend but you. You're not alone here. Through the ages, many men (like Casanova, Kierkegaard, and Schopenhauer) have wrestled with the same problems. They attempted to codify the elements of female attraction, and unpack the riddle of womanhood. Much of ancient literature tells the tale of a woeful love-struck man--lamenting the indifference of the woman he desires. So, what's going on here? Why do some men seem to effortlessly exude charisma, confidence, and charm, while others never get any attention at all? Why do some men show up with a new girlfriend every week, while others, have never been kissed? What's the solution? Fortunately for us, recent advances in evolutionary psychology, biology, and social science have managed to shine some light on these questions, and unlock the formula for charisma. The trick lies in understanding that, the female brain was tuned (thousands of years ago) to look for a certain set of male characteristics. At a subconscious level, a woman's brain is always observing a man--taking note of his body language, the gaze of his eyes, his voice, his touch, his way with words, and the way he carries himself across a crowded room. The message a man conveys with these little behaviors, is known as his "nonverbal communication." Mastering this type of communication, approaching women, engaging in small talk, and parlaying an encounter into a romance, is a delicate undertaking--sometimes called the "Art of Seduction." There is much to learn in this domain. But, fortunately, we've crammed this book full of practical information, and proven strategies--designed to teach you exactly how to instantly connect with a woman--on a deeper level. This book will teach you how to develop magnetic charisma and confidence! You will learn: How to make a first impression that counts--and makes her instantly curious to learn more about you. How to become more articulate, well-spoken, and make witty small talk, effortlessly. Learn the cure for "never knowing what to say" to a woman you just met. The one conversation technique that is guaranteed to get her instantly interested in you. The biological basis of confidence, how it kept your ancestors alive, and how to develop it within yourself. How to utilize eye contact, and the power of your voice, to seize female attention, and woo the woman of your dreams. How to avoid the dreaded "Friend Zone," and use your touch and masculine energy to spark the fires of sexual tension, and keep her interested in you. Even if you're not the best-looking guy in the world, this is largely irrelevant. Because it takes more than a pretty face to attract a woman. As Casanova himself wrote in 1821: "I was not handsome, but I had something better than beauty--a striking expression--which almost compelled an affectionate interest in my favor, and I felt myself ready for anything... A most unwavering feeling of self-esteem...enhanced wonderfully my confidence in myself." Wouldn't it be great to have this level of confidence? Thankfully, with a little training, anyone can be a Casanova. Ready to learn more?
