In 2003, NASA launched two Mars Exploration Rovers named "Spirit" & "Opportunity" on a voyage of discovery to the Red Planet. Both Rovers had a projected lifetime on Mars of just 90 days in which to collect scientific data and photographs. The Rovers excelled in every respect and worked on the Martian surface for many years. This book is the second volume in a series which records the exploration of the Rover "Opportunity". This volume records the period from the start of 2005 when Opportunity left Endurance Crater to its arrival at Victoria Crater at the end of 2006. These volumes are created from the sol by sol (day by day) logs provided to us all by the NASA web sites along with the photographs taken by the different cameras on Opportunity. All profits from this series of books will be donated to third world projects. These essays by eminent economist Prasanta K. Pattanaik deal with two distinct areas. (i) the theory of decision making by individuals; and (ii) welfare economics and the theory of social choice. The papers in the first group are all concerned with situations outside the conventional frameworks of rational choice under perfect certainty and uncertainty. Essays in the second group are concerned with the classical problem of aggregation of preferences and welfare judgments. Some deal with the formal modeling of individual rights, and the measurement of freedom - concluding with measurement of living standards. The volume will be useful to researchers and students of welfare economics. Besides economists, students and teachers of psychology, political science, and philosophy will also find them of interest. This study is offered as an attempt to throw some light on the Negro and the world in which he lives through an analysis of Negro and white police records and a selected number of Negro case histories. In pursuing the investigation an effort was made to view the Negro's record in terms of behavior--to see the situations which provide the setting for Negro activities. The investigation is based chiefly on two sources of data--the police record cards, one of which is made for every arrest by the police of Charlottesville ; and a few case studies of individual Negro offenders. All of the police cards for both whites and Negroes for the years 1927 to 1931 were used ; and the individual offenders studied more intensely committed most of their offenses between these dates. The cards made out for Negro offenders were used in compiling all sets of figures used in the study, but those made for the whites only where indicated. -- Introduction. Court of Appeal Case(s): D010093 Michael Angrosino, by weaving together a life-histories approach to ethnography and a completely new concept of culture, is able to present an intimate and complex picture of Opportunity House, a highly functional community of mentally-retarded adults.
