This exercise book introduces your child to writing letters and numbers in a playful and age-appropriate manner that will help him or her get to know the alphabet and the numbers 0 to 30. In this way, children are guided and optimally prepared for pre-school and primary school. The book is divided into sections: numbers and letters. The learning process is guided as follows: Letters Every letter is new territory for your child. The first step is to get to know the letter and practice through the correct pen guidance by simply tracing it. This is followed by a word containing the letter you have just learned. So your child learns to put the letter in a word. Encourage your child to read the word aloud to directly practice the corresponding sound. Finally, your child learns to write the letter freely and independently. Numbers To understand the meaning of numbers, your child starts counting picture elements. Then, just as with letters, he or she will have to trace the numbers. As soon as they become more confident, free writing follows the number you have just learned, with guidelines ensuring that the number is placed at the correct height. In both areas, learning takes place in a meaningful and reliable structure that gives your child security and constantly encourages them to see their own progress. Parents can help their children work through this exercise book and provide the necessary support. After all, writing is not easy for every child. Parents should keep a special eye on the correct pen position and hand guidance and celebrate every milestone with their child. For both numbers and letters, encourage your child to speak out loud about what he or she has learned. The more senses are involved in the learning process, the faster and easier it is to learn. By completing this exercise book, your child will be able to write the lower and upper case letters from A to Z, as well as the numbers 0 to 30. It is especially important that your child can work and learn at their own pace. This is the only way to keep the fun and become more confident in writing from letter to letter, or from number to number. When you really think about it, the fact that children learn a language, learn how to speak, and learn to write in such a short amount of time is extraordinary. As parents and caregivers and educators, we all want to encourage our children to learn the skills they will need for a lifetime, but many of us don't necessarily think a lot about how those skills develop-or at what age we can encourage our children to start learning how to write. We might think that children don't really learn how to write until they approach older ages, but a study conducted by Washington University in St. Louis uncovered some interesting findings that prove otherwise. The study, which was published in the journal Child Development, showed that children actually start to learn writing skills as early as the age of three. This study, unlike other studies that examined how children's writing skills improve as they get older, looked at how early children actually learn how to write. The researchers found that children begin to write "words" that actually follow rules of the written language, as early as age 3. For example, they might write a word that makes no sense, but it might actually follow a basic rule of looking like a word with repeating letters that represent vowels or word types. Teaching your child to write begins at an early age. You can help boost your child's hand-eye coordination by introducing crayons or other writing tools at an early age, sitting down with your child to spell out words and talk about them together, and give your child room to explore writing. Even if the "words" your children write look a bit like gibberish to you, they are important first steps to learning how to communicate through the written language, so encourage him or her to write often. Letters Tracing for Toddlers is the perfect tool to teach your child how to write letters and numbers in a funny and simple way. Inside you will find: Engaging and simple designs Clear tracing instructions for each letter and number Lot of space for your child to practice And much more... This book is recommended both for children who already know the letters and only need to improve writing, and for those who are starting from scratch. Writing letters can be difficult... Letter Tracing Workbook For Preschoolers And Toddlers: A Fun ABC Practice Workbook To Learn The Alphabet For Preschoolers And Kindergarten Kids! Lots Of Writing Practice And Letter Tracing For Ages 3-5 Writing is one of the first skills children learn in school. The time of wild scribbling has come to an end, and suddenly, clear lines are to be formed into letters and words. However, this is not easy for everyone. While some children start off eagerly and soon develop a certain feeling for pencil guidance, others need a little more help and time to get there. It is perfectly normal that some letters are easier to translate than others. After all, an "I" is much simpler than "G" or an "M", for example. As your child learns with each letter - whether easy or challenging - he or she will gradually develop the skills needed to write even tricky letters with confidence. The learning process must be lined with as many successes as possible to boost your child's motivation to learn. This book, therefore, proceeds step by step. The individual lower and upper case letters - from A to Z - are presented one after the other. Ideally, the next letter should be started when the previous one has already been memorized. For this reason, learning each letter is divided into three simple steps, which are clearly separated from each other. Tracing Every letter is a new territory for your child. The first step is to get to know the letter and practice through the correct pen guidance by simply tracing it. If your child is still struggling after the first pass, the process can easily be repeated with a new pen in a different color. Add Word This is followed by a word containing the letter you have just learned. So your child learns to put the letter in a word. Encourage your child to read the word aloud - this will directly practice the corresponding sound. Independent writing Finally, your child is ready to write the letters freely and without pre-drawn lines. Of course, auxiliary lines are provided to help you place the letter at the correct height. Letter by letter, your child will be guided through the alphabet in a supportive and not overburdening way, always practicing to use the uppercase letters first, then followed by the lowercase letters. By looking at each letter three times, your child is confronted with a solid, reliable structure which they can follow at their own pace. A quick look at the most important facts of the book: Suitable for school and pre-school children from ages 3 to 5 Sensible structure that optimally accompanies the learning process Great preparation for pre-school and kindergarten A fun way to learn the printed letters from Aa to Zz Designed and sensibly structured to suit children Promotes correct pen management and concentration Child-friendly writing exercises on over 100 pages Lots of space for free practice Lovely designs Combine play with learning. As your child's confidence and skill increase through practice, so does the complexity and difficulty to further hone his skill. Level 1: Establishes the basics of letter printing or handwritingLines and CurvesAlphabet ABCNumbers 0-9 Level 2: Simple Sight WordsApplication of the basics of letter writing to form wordsVisual and physical involvement teaches children to recognize words on sightForm the foundation for sentencesAccompanied with drawings to illustrate the word Level 3: Simple SentencesApplication of handwriting and sight words to form sentencesFurther strengthens skills through practice and repetitionAids in grammar and sentence formation The variety of exercises in this handwriting practice book for kids are guaranteed to be helpful in building hand-eye coordination, dexterity and muscle memory and is great for kids of all ages from nursery, preschool, pre k, kindergarten and kids ages 3-5 and 5 -6. Handwriting has its place even in the midst of technology.A case study published in the US National Library of Medicine National Institute of Health states that letter tracing and handwriting has significant benefits over typing on electronic devices. The study tested the effect on brain engagement with traditional handwriting and typing on a tablet. The conclusion was that tracing and handwriting activates and engages both the left side of the brain which is responsible for language and logic and the motor cortex. Stimulation of these parts of the brain can provide benefits for the development of your child's brain and scholastic performance in the future.
